2 Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. The managed portfolio performance represents total return for the periods. Returns have been calculated using the time-weighted method, they assume distributions are reinvested and are after investment management fees and indirect costs. Total and growth returns include accrued distributions, while income return includes paid distributions only. Returns do not take into account tax payable. Individual client returns may vary based on the contributions, withdrawals, and timing differences within the managed portfolio

Quarterly manager commentary

Market update

Global markets advanced for the final quarter of the financial year as the vaccine roll-out accelerated worldwide and investor sentiment improved. Solid jobs and economic data, strong corporate earnings results, and US infrastructure spending also contributed to sustained growth over the period. Despite slowed growth in May due to spikes in virus cases, markets rallied over June as investors were enthusiastic and finished on an impressive note. In addition, technology and healthcare stocks reigned, while a boost in energy prevailed as commodities were supported by strong gains for precious and industrial metals, as well as oil.

The Australian market generated impressive quarterly returns and outperformed its global peers as the local economy was encouraged by positive GDP forecasts and was backed by strong labour market data. Market conditions surged in early April as investors rotated to value and cyclical stocks. Continual decreases in the unemployment rate (down to 5.1%) also contributed to a positive environment for domestic equities, while the Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) moved to a more flexible quantitative easing program. A slowed vaccination program and renewed lockdowns in some states contributed to eased consumer sentiment after having reached 11-year highs. While technology stocks came out on top over the quarter, the sector struggled over May as the market momentarily rotated to value stocks. Traditionally defensive consumer discretionary stocks also outperformed for the quarter, and all sectors on a 12-month basis.

As economic activity rebounded, bond yields declined over the quarter as investors sought out riskier assets and inflation expectations continued to grow. Despite the overall decline, short-term government bond yields fared better than 10-year sovereign rates this quarter in response to greater certainty from the central banks. Central banks across the world mostly held cash rates steady over the quarter and extended their accommodative monetary policies. The Federal Reserve indicated a rise in interest rates earlier than expected, while the Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) announced a continuation of the quantitative easing strategy beyond September 2021 (purchasing government bonds).

Portfolio update

The portfolio underwent multiple changes over the quarter. Following a change in investment personnel and ensuing loss of conviction, Kapstream Absolute Return Income Fund was replaced with Franklin Australian Absolute Return Bond Fund - I Class.

The best performing funds over the quarter were iShares Australian Listed Property Index Fund, Lennox Australian Small Companies Fund, and Vanguard International Shares Index Fund (Hedged). iShares' strong outperformance was attributed to a strong domestic recovery in real estate as parts of the economy re-opened. Lennox's returns were largely driven by positions held in technology companies, such as Australian Broadband stocks and "buy-now-pay-later" stocks. A strong market rally over the quarter as a result of hastened vaccine rollouts and strong economic data supported international markets which drove performance upwards for Vanguard.

The worst performing funds were Janus Henderson Global Multi-Strategy Fund - Institutional Class, Ardea Real Outcome Fund, and Pendal Short Term Income Securities Fund. Janus Henderson's performance was impacted by its downside protection strategy which detracted as equity markets moved higher over the quarter. Despite gains from bonds and interest rate relative value strategies, Ardea's performance was challenged due to their inflation protection as inflation concerns eased. Notwithstanding outperformance of the cash index displayed by the introduction of Pendal, the fund lagged its equity counterparts as investors moved to risk-on assets.
